

Recognize the dedicated men and women in your communities who devote their time, effort and energy to serving on your school district during the 2026 South Dakota School Board Recognition Week.

“We’re asking your school district to take time in February to commend your school board members for the tireless work they provide students, staff and communities,” ASBSD Executive Director Heath Larson said.

“Their efforts are invaluable to the public education system in South Dakota and we want to thank all 845 school board members for their efforts.”

South Dakota School Board Recognition Week is set for February 16-20, which may take place after some districts are scheduled to hold their monthly meeting, but we encourage your district to recognize school board members at your February school board meeting.

“South Dakota School Board Recognition Week is an opportunity to say thank you to your board members for their commitment to your public school,” Larson said.

ASBSD has provided a certificate recognizing each school board collectively for South Dakota School Board Recognition Week, but additional documents helping your district celebrate the week can be downloaded from ASBSD’s Documents page under the “Event Documents” header.

If you have any questions, please contact Director of Communications Tyler Pickner at tpickner@asbsd.org.

Thank you for your support in making South Dakota School Board Recognition Week a success.